THE NEED FOR TODAY

Now notice just for a moment. Take my own experience. In the early years when I was a channel for healing for fourteen years, I thought—and I was perfectly honest—that I had to draw those currents and pass them through my hands. I didn't have anyone to teach me. I didn't know any different. I just had to follow the impulse, because there was no one to tell me in the outer world. Therefore for all those years, I called forth those Currents through my hands, my arms and hands; and today my arms are more sensitive than any part of my body. Therefore, my hands, my fingers, have eyes. I can take any human body and my hands instantly go to the spot that's affected. But that was years of training. Afterwards, at the close of that period, I found my great mistake. I found that I could direct Currents of energy more powerful without ever seeing the individual than I could through my hands.

Now this is vital, and this should be vital in your experience. I found that it was not necessary at all to even have seen the individual in order to render the service. It's magnificent, Beloved Ones! But I had to learn that through actual experience. And, Dear Ones, I want you to realize that after that period had really closed, a call came to me from people whom I had never heard of. The young man was in a hospital just out of Chicago—from overseas—tubercular. The sister-in-law learned of me somehow and called me for help. I felt a tremendous impelling force to take the case, and I immediately did. I stood in our bedroom and charged those Currents forth. That was through my own body. And, Dear People, the atmosphere of the room would become so charged during that half hour that if anyone opened the door, you'd feel the rush of it out through the door.

Therefore, that young man that the doctors had said when they called me—and the staff at the hospital—couldn't live more than four days, in six weeks was well and left the hospital. (applause) And I have the letter to prove it. Therefore, Dear Ones, I never saw him and never have. But the gratitude of his wife and the sister-in-law was very tremendous.

Therefore, I want you—and I'm able through my own experience to assist you tremendously. Now, Dear Ones, when you want to give assistance to others, please don't call the Currents through your own body. Call to your "Presence" to project a Light Ray, the most Powerful thing in the world, and enfold that person. If it's someone needing healing, then hold It sustained there, knowing that that's Self-luminous, Intelligent Substance that carries all that is required for the patient; and hold It sustained there until the healing is complete. Well, it's just the most powerful thing in the world, absolutely infallible.
